Job Title: GP Educator (Undergraduate Medical Education)
Salary: CE01-03 £89,537 to £96,104 pro rata
Department: Leicester Medical School
Hours/Contract: Part-time (0.5FTE, 5 PAs, 20 hours per week), permanent
Reference: 592

Role Purpose

The post involves leadership of undergraduate medical education within the medical school, spanning different parts of the curriculum. This post will align with the new curricular structure, joining a senior team of GP educators and Medical School educators and provide an opportunity for leadership in areas of primary care within the curriculum.

Details of the new curriculum are available on the Medical School web site: http://www2.le.ac.uk/departments/medicine/curriculum-redesign-project

You will take a lead role alongside our CHDD (Compassionate, Holistic, Diagnostic and Detective) lead tutor - Dr Andy Ward, in reviewing and developing the Early Clinical Experience in general practice during phase 1. This is likely to be by reintroducing a longitudinal patient experience (previously delivered as a ‘Living with long-term conditions’ module), but may also include GP practice visits.

It is intended that you will provide a range of activities including general primary care duties such as examining, interviewing, being a personal tutor to groups of phase 1 students and becoming a Clinical Academic Tutor in phase 2.

In relation to GP Academies (educational federations of GP teaching practices), you will be involved in external GP tutor development and quality assurance of their teaching.

In addition, you will be involved in University activities of enterprise/engagement/citizenship.

The post is worked on a sessional basis (one session is equivalent to a four-hour period of programmed activity or PA).
